COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER.

Saturday February. 9, 1907.

D. E. O'KEEFE.....EDITOR AND PROPRIETOR

Barrett-Brow Wedding

The marriage of Miss Grace L. Barrett, Stanford '06, of this City, to James J. Brown, of San Francisco, took place very quietly Wednesday morning at 10:30 in San Francisco. The happy couple left immediatly for an extended trip through Washington, Oregon, Colorado, Utah, and Southern California. They will return in about two months to make their home in San Francisco.

Mrs. Brown is the daughter of Dr and Mr. W. M. Barrett, of this City and has a host of friends in and through out the county. She graduated from the German department of Stanford university with the class of 1306, and has been teaching for the past few months in the Belmont public schools.

Mr. Brown's family home is near this City and he is in the wholesale hardware business in San Francisco.

All wish the young couple a very happy wedded life.

APPLIES FOR LETTERS

August Nelson has petitioned for letters of administration upon the estate of Marén K. Christianson who died intestate in this county Jan 31st. The estate consists of lots 63 and 61, Huisng Addition to San Mateo valued at $1800. The heir at law is Bodel Nelson, a resident of the Homestead, near San Mateo. She is a sister of the decedent. The petitioner is her nephew.

ELECT OFFICERS

The Real Estate Board of San Mateo County was made a permanent organization at a meeting held last Wednesday at San Mateo. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Curran Clark, president; H. N. Royden, vice president; San Mateo Bank treasurer; L. E. Fuller, secretary. Directors: Curran Clark, H. N. Royden, F. G. Lorton. W. W. Casey, J. J. Read. The Board will meet again February 27th at the Board of Trade rooms.

M. Throwell Resigns Position

Michael Throwell has resigned his position with the Spring Valley Co. and on the middle of the month will journey to Manhattan to join his boyhood friend, Frank Torpey. The latter has struck it rich in the mines and is reputed to have properties worth nearly a million dllars.

POMPEIAN MASSAGE CREAM

is today indispensable on the dressing table of gentlewoman or gentleman. Not only does a Pompeian Massage perfectly cleanse the skin, but it removes wrinkles and blackheads, takes out stiffness of the facial muscles, animates the tissues, and makes the flesh firm and solid. Men use Pompeian Cream after shaving—it flexes the muscles and takes away shaving soreness. Most women recognize the value of this preparation in maintaining a clear and healthy skin.

Suit To Compel Fulfilmdnt of Contract

C. P Cooley, through his attorneys, Rodgers, Smith and Thomas, of Palo Alto, has commenced an action in the Superior Court of this County against Mrs. Isabel Butler of Palo Alto to compel her to carry out the terms of a certain optional contract made executed and delivered to plaintiff at Palo Alto November 14th, 1906. By its terms it was agreed that C. P. Cooley was to have until February 1, 1907, to purchase 72 acres of land at Ravenswood from the defendant. The property is a part of the well known Cooley ranch. The purchase price was to be $25,361 of which $8000 was to be paid on or before the first of February and the remainder by a mortgage on that date and the interest to be 8½ per cent per annum. On January 26th Mr. Cooley tendered her the $8000 and mortgage. She refused to accept the offerand still refuses to carry out the terms of the agreement. The suit is brought to compel Mrs. Butler to carry out the terms of the contract and to give him a deed to the property.

Mrs. Butler purchased the property some two years ago from Frank Coole for $16,000. It is located near the proposed Dumbarton Bridge and is very valuable.

Jury Disagrees in Barrett Trial

The trial of B. A. Barrett, for an assault with a deadly weapon upon Lazzario Bonturi at South San Francisco last October, was begun before a jury in Judge Buck's Court last Tuesday. District Attorney J. J. Bullock and T. J. Crowley of San Francisco appeared for the people and Harry Styles and Jas. T. O'Keefe represented Barrett.

Many witnesses were examined. The evidence showed that on the nightof October 15, Bonturi went to the house in which Barrett was living and was in an intoxicated condition. He began to pick the locks of the door and endeavored to raise the windows of the building. Not succeeding in his attempt to gain an entrance he went to a blind alley at the side of the house. Barrett, who had warned him to leave the premises, fired three shots through the door, the first taking effect in Bonturi's abdomen. He hovered between life and death for two weeks. After the jury deliberated for several hours they failed to agree and were discharged. Ten of the jurymen were for simple assault and two for acquittal. The second trial has been set for next Wednesday.

Action Begun Against Telephone Company

A suit for $5,000 damages was filed Tuesday in Santa Clara County by Eva R. Barron, in her own right, and as guardian of three minor children, against the Sunset Telephone and Telegraph Company. The suit is similar to one filed some months ago by the same plaintiffs against a number of electric and telegraph companies.

It is alleged by the plaintiffs that they are the owners of a fine place known as the Mayfield Farm. This is situated on the county road.

In front of the house and set back some little ways from the road is a large grove of handsome trees. These have served, so the complaint goes on to say no tonly as an adornment, but as a means of shielding the house from winds and dust and of insuring a degree of privacy to the residents.

It is averred that during the months of September and October of 1905 the defendant wilfully, and without securing the consent of the owners to do so, cut down about fifty of the trees. The company also cut and slashed fifty more. By this act it is alleged, the grove was dispoiled, and made ineffective either as a feature of the place or as a protection, and the value of the placewas decreased by the sum of $5000.

The plaintiffs ask that the damage be fixed at this amount and that it be trebled.

The suit will be watched with much interest by the peopleof this County who have similar grievances against the company.

The Books of Ancient Rome.

In the time of Augustus Caesar books in the form of papyrus rolls, copied by overworked and underpaid slaves from the authors' original manuscript, were abundant and astonishingly cheap. Horace hints in one of his epistles that his works were being pirated and sold so cheap that they were getting into the hands of the rabble and becoming schoolbooks. Martial, in one of his epigrams, says that a copy of his Thirteenth book may be bought for 4 nummi (about 15 cents), and that if Tryphon, the bookseller, should sell it at 2 nummi he would still get a profit. Both Horace and Martial convey the idea that their publishers occasionally put out larger editions than could be sold. In the matter of editions de luxe, Martial writes that a volume of his epigrams "polished with pumice stone and incased in purple may be bought at Atrectus' for 5 denarii" (about 80 cents).—New York American.

His Tribute to Temperance.

The temperance reformer was justly proud of having converted the biggest drunkard in the little Scotch town and induced him—he was the local gravedigger—to get up on the platform and testify. This is how he did it: "My friends," he said, "I never thocht to stand upon this platform with the provost on one side of me and the toon clerk on the ither side of me. I never thocht to tell ye that for a whole month I havena' touched a drap of anything. I've saved enough to buy me a braw oak coffin wi' brass handles and brass nails—and if I'm a teetotaler for anither month I shall be wantin' it!"

Parrot Pie.

Parrot pie is one of the delicacies over which visitors to Australia rave. As the fruit season opens the parrots and parrakeets come by thousands, like locusts, and, settling on the trees, feed upon the fruit until nothing but the stones is left behind. They are shot while gorging themselves. The flesh, though very dark, is said to be delicious in flavor and almost to taste of the cherries, peaches and plums on which the birds have fed. They are said to be more succulent than pigeons and altogether superior to the palate.

Egoism of Authors.

"Very few literary men get rich."

"Perhaps it's just as well they don't," answered Miss Cayenne. "If a literary man got rich enough to found libraries he wouldn't permit people to read any but his own books."—Washington Star.

THE BEAT OF THE PULSE.

It Varies Greatly In Different Persons and Conditions.

The pulse of women generally beats at a slightly faster rate than that of men. It may be said that when a person is at rest his pulse, that of any adult, may be from seventy-five to eighty times a minute. Great variation exists in different individuals in respect of the number of beats. After exercise the pulse quickens because of the stimulation of the heart, and the same result applies to the effects of taking food. A dose of alcohol will also stimulate the pulse somewhat, just as the use of tobacco, especially in excess, will tend to have an opposite effect—namely, that of lowering the rate of the pulse, because of the depression of the heart which results. In fevers and inflammatory diseases the pulse rate tends to be very much increased and also in respect of its character. Instead of beating quietly the blood vessel in such cases exhibits a very full and bounding movement. On the other hand, where depression exists and the temperature of the body falls, the pulse may be unnaturally slow and its character weak. Physicians are accustomed to distinguish other characteristics in the pulse, such as become valuable hints in the discovery and determination of disease. The practical lesson we learn here is that where the pulse continues for any length of time to have its beats quickened to an unnatural degree and where especially a rise of the temperature or heat of the body accompanies these symptoms we ought to suspect some kind of feverish condition or other to be represented. The pulse alone forms a valuable enough guide to this state of the body, but its value is very much increased if to the information given us by the pulse we add that which the use of the thermometer supplies.—Cardiff Times.

NAMES OF DAYS.

The Latin and Saxon Terms From Which They Are Derived.

Our names for each day are derived from the Saxons, who probably borrowed the week from some eastern people, substituting names of their own divinities for those of the classical gods, as is easily seen when the names are tabulated:

Latin.	Saxon.	English.
Dies Solis.....	Sun's day.....	Sunday.
Dies Lunae.....	Moon's day....	Monday.
Dies Martis.....	Tiw's day.....	Tuesday.
Dies Mercurii..	Woden's day..	Wednesday.
Dies Jovis.....	Thor's day....	Thursday.
Dies Veneris...	Friga's day...	Friday.
Dies Saturni....	Seterne's day	Saturday.

Among the ancients the belief in the influence of the planets upon the life of men was so strong that many in selecting their daily ornaments would wear only the gem associated with the planet of the day. Thus on Sunday only yellow gems and gold should adorn the fingers. Pearls and white stones, excepting diamonds, belonged to the Moon day. Tuesday, day of Mars, claimed rubies and all stones of fiery luster. Thursday, Thor's day, demanded amethysts and deep colored stones of sanguine tint, while Friday, dominated by Venus, reigned over the emerald, color of jealousy, which is love's shadow. Saturday, dedicated to Saturn, oldest of the gods, had for its distinctive talisman the most splendid of all gems, the diamond.—Chicago Record-Herald.

THE HUMAN THROAT.

It Has a Sort of Little Brain That Controls Its Actions.

Did you know that the throat has a brain of its own? Few people are aware of it, but it's a fact. There is a small ganglia which exercises direct control of the muscles of the throat and acts as its brain. Of course it is subservient to the genuine brain, but at the same time does a good deal of independent thinking for itself. It is very timid and suspicious of any strange objects that come near the throat.

For this reason it is very difficult for a physician to operate on the throat. Before anything can be done in this direction it is necessary for the operator to gain the confidence of the little brain that dominates it. It frequently takes weeks before this confidence can be secured, and until it is secured it is impossible to perform an operation.

Woe to the man who attempts rough treatment to the throat before gaining the little brain's confidence. His operations will be resented with violent paroxysms, first of the throat, then of the diaphragm, and, if the operator still persists, the patient will be thrown into convulsions. Still more curious is the fact that this little brain has a memory, and if once frightened in this way it is almost impossible to ever gain its confidence, no matter how gentle the operator may be.

Historical Accuracy.

Perish the thought that the novelist or playwright should be tied down to historical accuracy! Lady Dorothy Neville quotes an amusing correspondence between Bulwer Lytton and her brother:

My Dear Walpole—Here I am at Bath—bored to death. I am thinking of writing a play about your great ancestor, Sir Robert. Had he not a sister Lucy, and did she not marry a Jacobite?

My brother promptly replied:

My Dear Lytton—I care little for my family and still less for Sir Robert, but I know that he never had a sister Lucy, so she could not have married a Jacobite.

However, this mattered little to Lord Lytton, for his answer ran:

My Dear Walpole—You are too late! Sir Robert had a sister Lucy, and she did marry a Jacobite.

So, in defiance of history, the play "Walpole" came to be written.

A Stetson Story.

The late John Stetson, famous in his day as a theatrical manager, was having a yacht built, and a friend, meeting him on the street, asked him what he was going to name the boat. "I haven't decided yet," replied John, "but it will be some name commencing with S, probably either Psyche or Cineh."

His Part.

Magistrate (to witness)—I understand that you overheard the quarrel between the defendant and his wife? Witness—Yes, sir. Magistrate—Tell the court, if you can, what he seemed to be doing. Witness—He seemed to be doin' the listenin'.

To Please the Palate is our aim in serving meat—to retain the fine flavor Nature bestows, not to let it go to waste, as some meatshops do. With prolonging this true tale, it may be set down for a fact that here is to be found a first-class place to purchase beef, mutton, lamb, ham, poultry and game, to give your table good credit with household and guest.

WHAT MONEY IS.

Bait for the matrimonial hook.

The most effective substitute for brains.

Money is the most difficult root to cultivate.

That which women look for while men sleep.

Money is the loudest sound in the voice of life.

What the rich don't need and the poor don't get.

A curse to some that have it and a curse to all that haven't.

A provider for everything but happiness, a passport to everywhere but heaven.

The one thing that makes crooked things look straight and straight things crooked.

That which speaks a language we can all understand, but in which so few are able to converse.

Purchasing by Scent.

"The nose is a powerful factor in the selection of flowers," said the proprietor of a flower stand. "I keep the doors of this glass case open in all kinds of weather. I want possible customers to catch a whiff of the fragrance. Most people buy flowers for the smell instead of the looks. They will pass a shut-in flower stand day after day and never think of buying anything, but just let them get the odor of some favorite flower and they will go home carrying a bouquet as big as your hat."—New York Press.

Golf Sticks.

It is of the utmost importance that the golfer should be on terms of the most complete confidence and intimacy with all the clubs in his bag, and particularly the wooden clubs, from which he gets his length. Such confidence cannot be established during the first few seasons of a golfer's experience. It needs a long time and much thought to grasp what are the essential features of a wooden club that make it exactly suited to the peculiarities of a particular player.—Fry's Magazine.
